Consultant awaiting scope decision on proposed JPG study

BY BOB DEMAREE

The county's consultant has prepared a list of areas to study in a proposed Jefferson Proving Ground Airfield Strategic Planning and Marketing Study but costs won't be known until county officials narrow that list to the areas they want included.

Engineering consulting firm Crawford, Murphy and Tilly (CMT) submitted the list earlier this month and is awaiting a decision by county officials before proceeding. County Council discussed the issue Tuesday but made no decision on whether to move forward with funding. A total of $500,000 from the county's American Rescue Plan funds has been designated as economic development. County Council must decide whether all, some or none of those funds should go to the study.

The list defines aspects the study can include at the Jefferson Proving Ground but Commissioner David Bramer said CMT has not yet attached a cost to the study. "Once we get the scope nailed down then we can talk about the proposal," Bramer said. "I was hoping the last page would be filled out but they weren't going to go there" until the county defines what work it wants done.

Council member Heather Foy said information on the scope of work was emailed to council members the morning of Tuesday's meeting and she has not had time to review it. "This is potentially a chunk of money and I don't feel like I can in good conscience vote to move forward with this when I have not read it in its entirety." Foy also said that without a dollar amount attached, the county has no way of knowing the cost.

Bramer said CMT will estimate a cost for the study once the scope of work is determined. "They're not going to say, you agree to the scope, here's the price tag," he said. "They're going to say now we know what you want in the scope, we're going to give you a cost estimate what it's going to cost." Bramer said once the scope of work is determined by the county, if the cost comes back too high, there will be opportunity to exclude more from the scope to bring the cost down.

EMA head: Disaster declaration process continuing

Morgan says make repairs ASAP but save documentation

BY BOB DEMAREE

Emergency Management Agency Director Troy Morgan on Tuesday updated Jefferson County Council on the process for seeking state and federal assistance with regard to the deadly Sept. 3 flash flooding that destroyed homes, damaged roads and bridges and other infrastructure along Brushy Fork Creek in Jefferson County.

Jefferson County Commissioners issued an emergency declaration the day after the flooding and Morgan has been preparing the final package of information he will submit to the state while awaiting a dollar estimate on the damage from the County Highway Department. Morgan said the Department of Homeland Security will then visit to conduct a validation survey.

Switzerland and Ohio counties were also impacted by the Sept. 3 flood, and those counties along with Jefferson will be "tabulated and calculated and be combined to make one federal threshold."

Once that's done and numbers are finalized, it will be submitted to Gov. Eric Holcomb to sign a state declaration of emergency for the affected areas and after that it will be sent to President Joe Biden with a request to sign the federal declaration of emergency. "If the President reviews everything and agrees and signs the federal declaration that's what releases the FEMA resources," Morgan said.

Morgan noted that if for some reason "the Governor agrees and the White House does not sign it, then that will release the state relief fund"

The USS LST-325, a World War II-era tank landing ship, now based on the Ohio River in Evansville, Indiana, passed through the readership area Tuesday en route to Ashland, Kentucky. The restored ship, now an operating World War II museum based in Evansville is pictured heading upriver just east of Madison. The ship, launched Oct. 27, 1942, at Philadelphia Naval Shipyard and commissioned on Feb. 1, 1943, is 328 feet long.

"My friend Jason Long came to me with the idea," relates Jimmy Davis, owner of the Central Hotel and The Drake, two of the participating venues.

"Jason and I go way back to school days," continues Jimmy, "and Ryan Shaw, too, so we included Off Broadway Taproom. I know the Kentucky flooding was about six weeks ago, but it took awhile to get this benefit organized. I also know we've had some flooding losses right here in Jefferson County since then, and I can

Board of Zoning Appeals tables application for event venue, Airbnb for more study

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Madison's Board of Zoning Appeals (BZA) voted 4-0 on Monday to table a property owner's request to operate her residence as an Airbnb — and occasional event space — after the chairman voiced concerns that the request might exceed the scope and authority of that board.

According to BZA Chairman Scott Baldwin, property owner Catherine Evans' application seeking to use her historic home, located at 1229 W. Main St., as an Airbnb and event venue for small micro weddings and similar-sized events, should possibly be handled by the city's Plan Commission.

Baldwin said while the BZA has approved conditional use applications for homes to be used as an Airbnb, Evans is seeking a variance that effectively rezones a home in a residential area as commercial property. He noted that is a bigger decision that the Plan Commission should possibly weigh in on.

Evans said her family intends to continue living in the house, known locally as White Hall, a historic two story residence that served as a Civil War hospital in 1863-65 and a residence since. She said the plan is to make the home and adjoining gardens available for small weddings with a limited number of guests about twice a month on weekends.

"It's a beautiful space for micro weddings of 15 to 45 people," Evans said, adding that being able to operate the business will help offset business losses she's experienced in other communities during the COVID pandemic. She said she is developing a parking plan to accommodate guests without impacting neighbors.

The site actually operated as a bed and breakfast several years ago but never officially came before the city for a conditional use permit or variance. Although located in a residential zone, the home neighbors the Madison Elks property to the west, which is zoned commercial, so the area is already adjacent to a business.

Baldwin said the BZA has approved variances in the past but very few and in unique situations. A variance was granted to the new Jefferson County Sheriff's Office and Criminal Justice Center now under construction on the hilltop in an area zoned light industry and for the Rags to Wrenches auto repair shop at 1019 Walnut Street but that building was a former tire sales and repair business and more historically a service station.

Baldwin said he had "misgivings" about approving a variance for a business in an area zoned residential and especially in the historic district.

"The best way would be to rezone it but if you rezone it you can't have a residence there," Baldwin noted.

Devon Sharpe, attorney for both the BZA and Plan Commission, said based on the home's previous use as a bed and breakfast, the limited amount of use being proposed by the owner and the fact the site is next to a property that will never be used for residential purposes, the board could consider approving the application. "You don't see these very often," Sharpe said.

In the end, the BZA and Evans agreed to table the application for more study and bring the issue back in October for further consideration. The delay also allows for more input on the decision if any of the affected property owners support or oppose the proposal.

"I can see her side but we can't make the law here .. but nobody is here objecting," Baldwin noted. "I make a motion that we table it for one month to give everybody a chance to sleep on it."

Baldwin also asked Evans to return in October with a parking/transportation plan and an update on negotiations to buy the other property that adjoins the home.

only say, give us some time, we'll see if we can help there, too."

Anyone who knows Jimmy Davis knows he has always been very generous with his time and talents whenever someone is in need whether people need help with medical bills or funeral expenses. Heck, I saw him once do a benefit show to help a friend round up enough cash for a down payment on a house!

"I called around to all my musician friends to see if they'd donate their time, and they all jumped on board. The people in this town are great when it comes to generosity and helping out others in times of trouble."

At the Drake you can catch Bee Camp Bottom Boys at 2 p.m., Robert Reynolds and Darryl Hewitt at 4 p.m. and Matt Red Moore at 6 p.m. At the Taproom they have Bluebird Alley Band at 2 p.m., a band to be announced at 4 p.m., and Anthony Ray Wright at 6 p.m.

And finally, at The Central, the amazing BG Johnson's Big Brass Band is playing at 2 p.m., Lucky 13 at 4 p.m. and Soulshine at 6 p.m. Also at 9 p.m. at The Central, Hotwired will take the stage and take it into the wee hours.

If you don't recognize the band Lucky 13 at The Central, that's because they haven't played together in many years. It's kind of a reunion show for Danny Lee Cook and his bandmates, dusting off their great list of cover songs from the 70s, 80s and 90s.

SATURDAY COUNTRY SHOW AT OHIO THEATRE

So let's say you've been bopping around between Mulberry and Main all afternoon on Saturday, catching the great local bands playing the flood relief shows. What do you do next? Well, if you're a country music fan, especially the powerful brand of alt-country that is so popular these days, you head over to the Ohio Theatre at 7 p.m.

Local music producer David Richards has put together a powerful three-band line-up for this Saturday evening. Young newcomer Jayce Turley, most recently in Madison playing at Sallie's Ice Cream Alley, will kick things off. Next up will be Josh Morningstar. And the headliner is the legendary Billy Don Burns, last seen in Madison back in 2020 at Red Bicycle Hall.

"These are three of my favorite performers," says David Richards, owner of Ridge & River Productions. "I just thought it would be amazing to get them all together for one night and share it with my Madison friends. And the Ohio Theatre is such a great, historic venue to see a show. It's going to be special, I can guarantee that!"

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

If you look at the calendar below you'll see "Flood Relief Shows" at The Drake, The Central and at The Taproom. For complete details on who's playing and when, check out the article above. Looking at the other shows happening in Madison, the House of Jane Songwriter event on Thursday jumps out at me. Madison's very own Rusty Bladen will be featuring his great original tunes, along with Sara Trunzo, all the way from Maine. On Friday there is a very special Live Lunch happening at Lytle Park at 11:30 a.m. One of our all-time favorite performers, Maria Carrelli, will be casting her magic spell over the audience. If you've never seen Maria play, do yourself a favor and be there for this one.

STUDY

Foy said she has received feedback from county residents who are opposed to investing in the study. "I probably don't field as many community taxpayer complaint phone calls as the Commissioners do on a day-to-day basis but I have documented that I had seven taxpayers in the last month tell me they hope we don't vote to spend that kind of money on this project for JPG ... I am always quick to say that we don't know what this project is yet because we don't really know for sure what they're going to be taking a look at."

"I too have had no less than 10 contacts" with concerns over the amount of money that has been considered for the JPG study, Council member Ray Black Jr. said.

Bramer said he's aware that there are people opposed to the study but there are also those who think a closer looks is needed to determine the potential at the former proving ground.

"I have had people tell me they want us to do it," Bramer said, noting the success of the River Ridge Commerce Center — located at the massive former munitions plant site in Clark County — that in 2021 was estimated to have supported more than 18,000 jobs and $2.7 billion in total economic output in the southern Indiana/Louisville region, according to an economic impact analysis released earlier this year.

"River Ridge was not planned out when they turned over to Charlestown and Clark County and Jeffersonville. Somebody did a study and looked at what was there."

— David Bramer, commissioner

"River Ridge was not planned out when they turned over to Charlestown and Clark County and Jeffersonville," Bramer said. "Somebody did a study and looked at what was there."

He said that JPG is not necessarily the same as River Ridge but "we have some things that River Ridge doesn't have." Bramer noted that recent national supply chain issues have improved the viability of rail, which Madison Railroad offers at JPG, and there could be opportunities there. Bramer said there also could be possibilities for tourism and recreation at JPG.

Bramer encouraged the council members to look over the scope of work and let him know their thoughts to help better define the scope and help CMT to estimate a proposed cost.

IN OTHER BUSINESS

• Approved a request by the Commissioners for capital asset management consulting services through independent contractor Ron Heller for $7,500. Capital asset inventory and valuation is a requirement of the Indiana State Board of Accounts.

• Approved a $15,000 transfer from the county's innkeepers tax to community outreach to cover a budget shortfall in tourism. The money was needed after the Jefferson County Board of Tourism approved a $40,000 allocation to the Madison Chautauqua Festival of Arts in 2022 to help the event rebound from a down year in 2021 during the ongoing COVID pandemic. The additional allocation caused community outreach, which essentially funds festivals and events, to exceeded its overall budget.

Council members endorsed the transfer, noting the Chautauqua's positive economic impact on the community. "It's hard to wrap your head around the magnitude and dollars that are brought in to this community from this very classy big event," said Foy.

• Approved $15,000 for the Jefferson County Health Department to complete a remodeling of the health department, remove wallpaper and to fix the waiting room floor to eliminate walkway obstructions.

• Approved funding for the rest of this year for a new facilities maintenance position for the new Jefferson County Sheriff's Office and Criminal Justice Center. Even though the jail will not be completed until next year, the Council wants to make the hire by October to begin preparing for transition to the new facility. The Council approved $16,154 to cover pay for the position through the rest of this year.

• Bramer updated that the Madison and Dupont water companies are working out an agreement on which utility will provide water for the new jail. "I think it's got to go to Madison," he said. "The contract says anything north of Hutchinson Lane the city will cover."

Today's Highlight in History:

On Sept. 15, 1963, four Black girls were killed when a bomb went off during Sunday services at the 16th Street Baptist Church in Birmingham, Alabama. (Three Ku Klux Klansmen were eventually convicted for their roles in the blast.)

On this date:

In 1776, British forces occupied New York City during the American Revolution.

In 1789, the U.S. Department of Foreign Affairs was renamed the Department of State.

In 1857, William Howard Taft — who served as President of the United States and as U.S. chief justice — was born in Cincinnati, Ohio.

In 1935, the Nuremberg Laws deprived German Jews of their citizenship.

In 1940, during the World War II Battle of Britain, the tide turned as the Royal Air Force inflicted heavy losses upon the Luftwaffe.

In 1955, the novel "Lolita," by Vladimir Nabokov, was first published in Paris.

In 1959, Nikita Khrushchev became the first Soviet head of state to visit the United States as he arrived at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington.

In 1972, a federal grand jury in Washington indicted seven men in connection with the Watergate break-in.

In 1981, the Senate Judiciary Committee voted unanimously to approve the Supreme Court nomination of Sandra Day O'Connor.

In 1985, Nike began selling its "Air Jordan 1" sneaker.

In 2001, President George W. Bush ordered U.S. troops to get ready for war and braced Americans for a long, difficult assault against terrorists to avenge the Sept. 11 attack. Beleaguered Afghans streamed out of Kabul, fearing a U.S. military strike against Taliban rulers harboring Osama bin Laden.

In 2006, Ford Motor Co. took drastic steps to remold itself into a smaller, more competitive company, slashing thousands of jobs and shuttering two additional plants.

Ten years ago: Four days after the deadly attack on a U.S. diplomatic outpost in Benghazi, Libya, al-Qaida in the Arabian Peninsula called for more attacks on U.S. embassies. The State Department ordered non-essential government personnel and family members to leave its embassies in Sudan and Tunisia and warned U.S. citizens against traveling to the two countries. The National Hockey League locked out its players at 11:59 p.m. EDT; it was the league's fourth shutdown in a decade and one that would cost the league nearly half its season.

Five years ago: North Korea fired an intermediate-range missile over Japan into the northern Pacific, its longest-ever such flight. A bomb partially detonated on a London subway car, injuring 51 people. (An 18-year-old Iraqi asylum-seeker was convicted of attempted murder and sentenced to a minimum of 34 years in prison.) Harvard University reversed its decision to name as a visiting fellow Chelsea Manning, the former soldier who'd been convicted of leaking classified information. The Cleveland Indians saw their winning streak end at 22, an American League record, as they lost 4-3 to the Kansas City Royals. NASA's Cassini spacecraft disintegrated in the skies above Saturn after a journey of 20 years; it was the only spacecraft ever to orbit Saturn and sent back images of the planet, its rings and its moons. Character actor Harry Dean Stanton died at the age of 91.

One year ago: California Democratic Gov. Gavin Newsom emphatically defeated a recall aimed at kicking him out of office. SpaceX's first private flight streaked into orbit for a three-day trip carrying two contest winners, a health care worker and their rich sponsor. Olympic gold medalist Simone Biles told a Senate panel that the FBI and gymnastics officials turned a "blind eye" to USA Gymnastics team doctor Larry Nassar's sexual abuse of her and hundreds of other women. President Joe Biden announced that the United States was forming a new Indo-Pacific security alliance with Britain and Australia.

TODAY IN HISTORY

TODAY'S HIGHLIGHTS IN HISTORY:

On Sept. 16, 2001, President George W. Bush, speaking on the South Lawn of the White House, said there was "no question" Osama bin Laden and his followers were the prime suspects in the Sept. 11 attacks; Bush pledged the government would "find them, get them running and hunt them down."

ON THIS DATE:

In 1630, the Massachusetts village of Shawmut changed its name to Boston.

In 1810, Mexico began its revolt against Spanish rule.

In 1908, General Motors was founded in Flint, Michigan, by William C. Durant.

In 1940, Samuel T. Rayburn of Texas was elected Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives.

In 1966, the Metropolitan Opera officially opened its new opera house at New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts with the world premiere of Samuel Barber's "Antony and Cleopatra."

In 1972, "The Bob Newhart Show" premiered on CBS.

In 1974, President Gerald R. Ford announced a conditional amnesty program for Vietnam war deserters and draft-evaders.

In 1982, the massacre of between 1,200 and 1,400 Palestinian men, women and children at the hands of Israeli-allied Christian Phalange militiamen began in west Beirut's Sabra and Shatila refugee camps.

In 1987, two dozen countries signed the Montreal Protocol, a treaty designed to save the Earth's ozone layer by calling on nations to reduce emissions of harmful chemicals by the year 2000.

In 2007, contractors for the U.S. security firm Blackwater USA guarding a U.S. State Department convoy in Baghdad opened fire on civilian vehicles, mistakenly believing they were under attack; 14 Iraqis died. O.J. Simpson was arrested in the alleged armed robbery of sports memorabilia collectors in Las Vegas. (Simpson was later convicted of kidnapping and armed robbery and sentenced to nine to 33 years in prison; he was released in 2017.)

In 2013, Aaron Alexis, a former U.S. Navy reservist, went on a shooting rampage inside the Washington Navy Yard, killing 12 people before being shot dead by police.

In 2016, after five years of promoting a false conspiracy theory about Barack Obama's birthplace, Republican Donald Trump abruptly reversed course, acknowledging that the president was born in America, but then claiming the "birther movement" was begun by his Democratic rival, Hillary Clinton. (While the question of Obama's birthplace was raised by some backers of Clinton's primary campaign against Obama eight years earlier, Clinton had long denounced it as a "racist lie.")

Ten years ago: In appearances on Sunday news shows, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Susan Rice, said there was no evidence that the attack on the U.S. diplomatic outpost in Benghazi, Libya, was premeditated. But Libya's interim president, Mohammed el-Megarif, told CBS he had no doubt attackers spent months planning the assault and purposely chose the date, September 11.

Five years ago: Tropical Storm Maria, which would batter the Caribbean as a powerful hurricane, formed in the Atlantic. California lawmakers voted to move the state's presidential primary up by about three months to March, a move that would force candidates to mount expensive campaigns earlier.

One year ago: Health officials said the state of Florida had surpassed 50,000 coronavirus deaths since the start of the pandemic. A new study released by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention linked the COVID-19 pandemic to an "alarming" increase in obesity in U.S. children and teenagers. A report published in JAMA Ophthalmology suggested that vision problems increased among Chinese schoolchildren during pandemic restrictions and online learning. Jane Powell, a star of Hollywood's golden age musicals, died at her Connecticut home at 92.

Annual Canaan Fall Festival this weekend

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Canaan Fall Festival, one of Jefferson County's most successful community festivals, is back this weekend for its 57th edition, bringing together that community and its visitors for a parade, food and craft booths and the traditional Pony Express mail run to Madison.

"I think this is going to be a really good year, and we're just going to continue to try to move forward, and continue to be a staple in our community for the festival because it's important that our neighbors and our friends can get together" said Sarah Stephen, vice president of the Canaan Restoration Council that manages the festival. "You have a place to come home to. That's what a lot of people do, they come home to the Canaan Fall Festival."

One subtle change concerning this year's festival is the event is scheduled one week later — the third weekend in September after previously always being on the second weekend — with hopes the later date will be more convenient for visitors.

"This is our first year of changing the date," Stephen said, noting the later dates should avoid other events and allow more visitors an opportunity to be in Canaan. "We're hoping to make a comeback. We have a lot of new members on the council and we've been really working hard to get things going."

The Pony Express run, the horseback mail run from Canaan to Madison now in its 55th year, is a special part of the Canaan Fall Festival that makes it unique. "We are the only pony express that actually runs the mail by horseback east of the Mississippi River," Stephen noted.

Six local riders will deliver Pony Express-stamped mail from the Canaan post office to the Madison post office on Saturday. Because they will be carrying official U.S. mail, they must take an oath at 1 p.m. to make the delivery before setting out at 1:30 p.m. for the 14-mile trek to downtown Madison.

To have mail postmarked with the hand-stamped, commemorative special pictorial cancellation, visit the Canaan Post Office from 8 a.m. to noon on Friday and/or Saturday. "You can mail it to anybody in the United States," said Rod Asher, president of the Canaan Restoration Council, or send mail to yourself as a souvenir.

This year's honorary mayors are Rick and Kathy Clark, who live on Barbersville Road near Canaan. They will participate in the parade at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. "They're well-known in the community and very supportive of the community," Asher noted.

Also new this year is an inaugural car show to be located on the campus of Canaan Community Academy. Registration is 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. with trophies awarded at 2 p.m. on Saturday with a $15 registration fee for participants.

There will be music daily from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. with the Bee Camp Bottom Boys performing Friday and the Dusty Road Band playing on Saturday.

Cowboy Posse Productions will once again perform its popular old west-style shootout — "Conflict in Canaan" — at various times on Saturday afternoon.

Food and booth vendors will open at 3 p.m. on Friday and between 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. Saturday. Stephen said a total of 38 vendors have registered, a number that is up over recent years.

There will be an activity area for children on Friday and Saturday at a cost of $15 or $10 for Saturday only. Admission bracelets can be purchased at the information booth.

Stephen noted that children can also register for the pedal pull and the country western attire contest at the information booth. Both activities are free with the pedal pull beginning shortly after the Pony Express departure for Madison and the attire contest for boys and girls 11 and younger beginning at approximately 3 p.m.

There will be a baking contest for cakes, pies and cobblers — entries must be turned at the Canaan Community Academy by 9:30 a.m. — and all pies must be made from scratch with ingredients but not measurements required to be listed. Judging begins around noon with winners announced after the pedal pull.

The Chief White Eye art contest asks participants to paint their depiction of the legendary figure from the area in the 1800s.

Other activities include a frog jumping contest that will take place after the parade and a dunk tank that will begin at approximately 1:30 p.m. There will also be free yoga, friendly for beginners, at 9 a.m. at Kramer Park taught by Canaan native Sammy Lyon.

The festival will wrap up on Sunday with a community church service at 11 a.m. followed by a community pitch-in meal.

S.T.E.A.M. RIBBON-CUTTING

In another Canaan event on Saturday, Canaan Community Academy (CCA) will hold a ribbon cutting for its S.T.E.A.M. (Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, Math) Lab at noon on Saturday.

CCA, which now goes up to eighth grade, previously held a ribbon cutting on Aug. 8 for its sixth, seventh and eighth grade building.

CCA offers hands-on education, weekly participation in gardening, library, healthy mind and body, art and music classes.

21st Hispanic Cultural Awareness Day Saturday

BY BOB DEMAREE

Celebrating and embracing differences makes Hispanic Cultural Awareness Day one of the more special events in Madison, and the 21st edition of the cheerful festival will take place Saturday outside the Eggleston Community Building in downtown Madison.

"One of the main reasons for doing the cultural awareness day was that we wanted Hispanic cultures to appreciate each other," said Shirley Kloepfer, coordinator of La Casa Amiga, the cultural hub for the county's Spanish-speaking residents.

Kloepfer noted there is considerable diversity among Hispanics in Jefferson County. "Before we had a lot of people from central America and Mexico but now we go down into South America," said Kloepfer. "Now, we have lots of Venzuelans and Colombians," and even more cultures than that.

Kloepfer said many non-Hispanics in the community unfortunately label all Hispanics as Mexicans, not understanding all the places they come from and the diversity of the local Spanish-speaking population. "Right now you really don't know. We have all different Hispanic nationalities here in Jefferson County."

With backgrounds in so many different countries and cultures, although the all speak Spanish there are various dialects, traditions and even their foods and the ways they cook them have diversity. Kleopfer said that in addition sharing an overall basic language, Hispanics all have pride in the countries from which they came.

"Everybody's got national pride in their country" and much can be accomplished through an appreciation of each other's nation, she said. "You've got to see the benefits and the talents of each one, and appreciate every country."

Located at 419 East Street, the event will begin at 4:30 p.m. with a welcome by Madison Mayor Bob Courtney and continue to 10:30 p.m.. Throughout the day there will be music, dancing and delicious food from a variety of regions and representing 10 countries including Mexico, Guatemala, El Savador, Honduras, Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Chile and Spain.

The event is free and open to the public food from the various booths will be available for purchase. "This is an opportunity for the Hispanic community to show all their talents in making their food and earn some money from it," said Kloepfer.

La Casa Amiga transitioned on July 1 to being under the umbrella of River Valley Resources (RVR) after previously partnering with Ohio Valley Opportunities. Kloepfer said that joining with RVR, which focuses on workforce development, provides a good match for La Casa Amiga. "We're trying to help people get employed and trying to get them a good education," she said.

Local artist Eric Phagan designed the poster for this year's festival, which depicts a scene of dancers from last year's event held for the first time on the grounds of Eggleston — LA Casa Amiga's new home — after being held at the Broadway Fountain in previous years. Kloepfer said Phagan stepped in to replace the late Lou Knoble in supporting the festival through art. "Lou Knoble always helped us constantly and was big supporter of us," she said. "He was always there at the festival."

Kloepfer encouraged people from throughout the community to take part in the festival. "We want everybody to come," she said.

which he said will be a similar process but different paperwork. He cautioned that emergency funds are provided as reimbursements and not as outright grants.

"It's very, very important to let people know that assistance is reimbursement costs. It's not upfront money," Morgan said. "If you have damage or impacted in some negative way, don't do nothing waiting for state money or federal money to be delivered to your mailbox because that's not the way it works. If you have a repair that needs made, or if you have a replacement that needs made that should be done as soon as you possibly can and all receipts and materials should be documented and saved."

Morgan stressed that any reimbursement through the federal emergency funds will require that documentation and receipts.

He said a total of 22 addresses were affected, noting that number increased by one with another property owner reporting minor damage. Overall, two homes were destroyed, three homes sustained minor damage, and the remaining saw property damage only. "A lot those private bridges where folks lived on the back side from the creek from the road, and the debris took bridges," he said.

"If anyone has any questions or property issues, call our office and we will investigate for them," County Surveyor Mike Pittman said. He said investigations so far included damage that was obvious and there could be something that was missed.

Morgan said with exception of the two homes that were destroyed, all other residences in the area were habitable. "That night all but those two homes everyone was sleeping in their own home under their roof wearing their own clothes eating their own food in one form or another," he said. "Some were in the dark, some were without water but within 48 hours the lights were on and water was restored."

He said the flooding was unique in that there "was very little individual damages as part of this. It was almost all public infrastructure."

County Council member Judy Smith noted there were some who lost hay that "will affect them in the winter time." Morgan said his understanding is that type of damage is being processed through the USDA.

Morgan praised the work done by the county highway department after the disaster, calling the crew members heroes. "Anything that could be open or could be cleared was open and cleared within hours," Morgan said. "There are unfortunately quite of few things that couldn't be cleared, couldn't be open. It will be quite awhile before some of that can be done but the highway crew, I could talk for an hour ... about how valuable they were out there over a 48-hour period. Sun-up to sun-down, non-stop as hard as they could hit it. They did a really, really good job."

He also praised the volunteers who work with the Emergency Management Agency. "We had the local damage assessment done within a few hours on Sunday morning" with the exception of the infrastructure of the bridges and road. "I can't say enough good about them."

Pittman noted that Morgan, Commissioner Bobby Little and building inspector Josh Cline, who also serves as the flood plain manager in the Surveyor's office, "did a tremendous job in helping our office" by going on site to the investigate damage.

BOYS SOCCER ROUNDUP

Shawe beats Southwestern 1-0 to even season series

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Shawe avenged an earlier loss to Southwestern by defeating the Class A No. 15-ranked Rebels 1-0 at home in soccer on Monday.

The Hilltoppers suffered a 2-0 loss when the two teams played in Hanover two weeks ago — so far Shawe's only setback of the season — but this time it was Shawe's chance to shine. Rodrigo Reyes-Miranda broke through for the only goal of the match in the 32nd minute and that proved to be the game-winner.

"(The) game was played very sloppy by the Rebels with a lack of rhythm and energy. The loss of our top goal scorer also does not help the situation," Southwestern coach Seth Shields said. "(We) were unable to get any type of offense going in the first half. Shawe had the energy and momentum for most of the game."

Shawe held an 18-5 overall advantage in shots, including 10-4 on goal. The Rebels did have five corner kick chances to just two by the Hilltoppers, while Shawe had 10 fouls and Southwestern eight.

William Stockdale had nine saves in goal for Southwestern and Dylan Fitzpatrick had four saves for Shawe.

Southwestern, now 5-2 overall and 4-1 in the Ohio River Valley Conference, hosted South Ripley on Wednesday and hosts Rising Sun on Friday.

Shawe, now 8-1-1 overall and 3-1-1 in the ORVC, hosted Rising Sun on Wednesday and hosts Class A No. 7 Switzerland County today. The Hilltoppers then head to South Ripley next Monday.

Shawe's Eric Liu (12) races down the field ahead of Southwestern's Salvador Hernandez-Perez during the Hilltoppers' win at home on Monday.

TODD HAT TRICK LEADS PACERS

Class A No. 7 Switzerland County gave up a rare goal — the unbeaten Pacers have posted seven clean sheets in 10 wins — but still posted a 5-1 win over Milan in boys soccer Monday on the road.

The Pacers got three more goals and an assist from Cooper Todd, two goals and an assist from Levi Curlin and an assist from Ashton Purvis in the win.

Todd, a sophomore, now has 22 goals on the season and is tied for fourth in the state.

His 52 points is currently fifth in the state.

Overall, Switzerland outshot Milan 35-15, including 19-13 on goal.

"The Pacers played on turf for the first time this season and adjusted well," Switzerland coach David Todd said. "A solid team effort with everyone contributing."

Switzerland, now 10-0 overall and 7-0 ORVC, travel to Shawe today and head to South Ripley on Saturday.

CARROLL BEATS OWEN, 3-1

Shane, HomeStreet can clinch national championship this weekend in San Diego

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

SAN DIEGO — The fastest race boats in the world will wrap up the 2022 season when the H1 Unlimited hydroplane series makes its final stop of the year this weekend on Mission Bay in San Diego. The boats will compete in a match-race Showdown event on Saturday and in the HomeStreet Bank Bayfair race on Sunday.

In addition to the two race victories, the teams also will be competing to see who will be crowned 2022 national champion. Jimmy Shane has won three of the six races held so far this season and holds a significant lead in points for the driver's championship. However, his defending champion U-1 Miss HomeStreet/Miss Madison race team arrives in San Diego with a much narrower advantage for the team title.

Trailing the U-1 by only 765 points is the U-9 Miss Tri-Cities, which will be driven by J. Michael Kelly, the defending national driver's champion and the winner of last year's event at San Diego.

Kelly, who is driving for the Strong Racing Team of Auburn, Washington, is coming off a win when the H1 Unlimited Racing Series made its most recent stop in Seattle in early August.

A solid third in the standings is Jeff Bernard, who will be driving the U-89 Miss Goodman Real Estate, which is campaigned by the same Miss Madison Racing Team as Shane's Miss HomeStreet. Bernard has driven his boat to four second-place finishes this season.

Fourth in the standings is U-11 Legend Yacht Transport and pilot Jamie Nilsen.

Nilsen, driving for the Unlimited Racing Group out of Cle Elum, Washington, has posted three third-place finishes this year.

The fifth entry in the San Diego event will be the U-40 Miss Beacon Plumbing, which has shown tremendous speed this season but has been hampered by accidents including an end-over-end flip during the Columbia Cup at Tri-Cities, Washington. The boat, operated by the Bucket List Racing Team of Snohomish, Washington, will be driven by Dustin Echols this weekend, who takes over the wheel from regular driver Dave Villwock, the sport's winningest driver.

The race will be webcast live on the H1 Unlimited YouTube Channel. To find a link to the broadcast, or to learn more about the hydroplanes, visit www.H1Unlimited.com.

Castro homers as Pirates beat Reds 10-4 to complete 4-game sweep

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Rodolfo Castro hit a three-run homer and an RBI single, and the Pittsburgh Pirates completed a four-game sweep of the Cincinnati Reds with a 10-4 victory on Wednesday.

Rookie Oneil Cruz connected for a two-run drive, helping last-place Pittsburgh to its first four-game win streak since mid-July. Ke'Bryan Hayes had three of the Pirates' 12 hits.

"It's been a lot of fun," Castro said through an interpreter. "It's what we've worked for. We've been working diligently, and we're communicating. It's good to see results."

It was Pittsburgh's first four-game series sweep in Cincinnati since July 11-14, 1991.

"We played really good defense and pitched well," Pirates manager Derek Shelton said. "I'm proud to say we ran the bases well, like in the late innings today. We pounded the zone. We played a full 36 innings. We played well. Sweeping a doubleheader is hard. Sweeping a series is hard."

Kyle Farmer and Austin Romine homered for the lowly Reds, who have dropped six in a row. Nick Lodolo (4-6) struck out 11 while working $6^{1}/_{3}$ innings of three-run ball.

Pittsburgh broke it open with four runs in the ninth against Luke Farrell. Michael Chavis had the big blow, a two-run single that made it 9-3.

Tyler Beede (2-5) got six outs for the win in relief of Roansy Contreras. Miguel Yajure pitched three innings for his first career save.

Cincinnati jumped in front on Spencer Steer's RBI single in the second, but Pittsburgh went ahead to stay on Castro's ninth homer in the third.

Castro also hit a three-run shot during the Pirates' 6-3 win in the series opener Monday night.

"I'm starting to believe in my work ethic," Castro said. "I have the mindset of staying positive through the highs and lows."

Hayes made it 4-2 when he singled home Greg Allen in the seventh, and Cruz went deep against Joel Kuhnel in the eighth.

Lodolo allowed six hits in his first loss this month.

The rookie left-hander was 1-0 with a 1.29 ERA in his previous two starts.

He became the first Cincinnati pitcher with back-to-back games with at least 11 strikeouts and no walks.

"It is hard to forget that one pitch, but outside of that, I felt pretty good," Lodolo said of Castro's shot. "It wasn't the best command on my fastball today. I know I had two strikes. I got him on it before. I tried to get it on his back foot but hung it."

Contreras yielded one run and three hits in four innings in his shortest start since he recorded five outs in a 19-2 loss to Milwaukee on July 1. He threw 55 pitches.

"We knew he was only four and 60 today," Shelton said. "We're going to monitor him. We want to keep him in the rotation and finish the season."

'Mean' mom has extreme regrets

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: I am married with two children — a daughter who is 15 and a younger kiddo who is five.

I am sometimes a mean mom. I am impatient and I yell — often during fights or when my big kid is challenging me or not listening. This results in her crying.

This happens almost daily, and has happened for years.

I am not proud of my actions. I am filled with shame and sadness over the way I have handled things and the emotional damage I have caused.

I worry that this has caused her to be insecure and not as outgoing or happy as she could've been with a nicer mom.

I feel like once she goes to college I will have missed my chance to heal my relationship and help her feel more confident and have better self-esteem.

I also think that she is suffering from depression.

What should I do?

— Bad Mom in the Midwest

Dear Bad Mom: Yelling isn't necessarily the core problem. What you say has a greater impact than the volume with which you say it.

A personal put-down will be etched onto your daughter's heart, and if you do this, you need to stop immediately.

When you're frustrated, use "I" statements: "I get so frustrated when it seems like you're not listening," versus: "You never listen. That's why your grades are so poor."

I shared your question with Kimberly Kopko, Ph.D., director of The Parenting Project at Cornell University.

She responds: "It is not too late to try and make amends and navigate a new way of relating. Knowing that you are sorry and committed to making changes will likely be the most powerful message you can give her.

"I highly recommend a parent education class for parenting teens. These classes are typically offered at community service organizations or local schools."

Mom and grandmother both play favorites

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: Our daughter has two daughters who are one year apart.

She very obviously favors the younger one.

Examples: She features a picture of only the younger one on her phone screen. We will talk at night with our granddaughters and when talking to the younger, the older one is always getting yelled at for something, while heaping positive attention onto the younger one.

Our daughter goes shopping with the younger one all the time while the older one stays home with dad.

I asked, "Why not take the older one?" She said the older daughter isn't interested. I'm thinking: "Well, make her go!"

When the girls are with us overnight, I purposely favor the older one.

My husband plays with the younger while I seek out the older one, hug her, snuggle, and give her lots of love.

Am I wrong to try to make up for six days of favoritism to the younger with one day of favoritism for the older?

I can't say anything to our daughter because I'm afraid to offend her and then we would never see the girls.

— Loving Grandma

Dear Grandma: If your daughter would respond to respectful observational feedback from her own mother by denying access to the children, then your issues might be larger than this imbalance of attention.

I'm not sure that leaving one child home from shopping because she doesn't want to go is an example of … anything, but I agree that overt parental favoritism has a negative effect on the entire family.

I agree that it is compassionate and loving to treat your elder granddaughter with lots of attention. Every child wants to be recognized as an individual and appreciated for their unique presence.

This includes your younger granddaughter. It would be a good example for both girls if you treated them as a team, promoting balance and togetherness, while finding time to spend with each.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — The barometer that measures your success rises when the winds of change are favorable. This is one of those times when you can rise above other people's problems and make headway despite difficulties.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You may feel prompted to push hard to obtain something. Eventually, you may come to realize that you were more concerned about having something new and exciting to share than about actually acquiring it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Tread gently. This is a time to remain diplomatic and conciliatory under tense circumstances. Avoid aggressively chasing after an attractive new hookup or an appealing new investment. Gather second opinions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Hang on to what you hold dear with a gentle hand. You might smother people because you fear losing them. But if you keep someone in a stranglehold or grasp a possession too tightly, there can be damage done.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Don't try to force an issue since there is likely to be an alternative. If you attempt to grab the reins of power, you may find that others have minds of their own. Things should settle down after a brief burst of tension.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You may need to tiptoe carefully around sensitive subjects. Remain detached and thoughtful in the face of controversy. Don't initiate any important projects or sign new contracts if any details are questionable.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Fearlessly face up to family feuds and workplace woes. Strained relationships can often be caused by unrealistic expectations. Use your caring and social skills to present the facts and put problems in perspective.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Friends might be more sensitive than you realize. If you are immersed in a project, you may be blind and unaware of trouble brewing elsewhere. An innocuous, innocent remark may bring criticism.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Someone may promote an idea that is not practical or feasible but might refuse to take "no" for an answer. Be positive and encouraging but don't become involved in a complicated family situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Conquer conflict with a cool head and warm heart. Step up; someone may expect you to solve their problems even if it isn't your responsibility. Apply your expertise and competency in business to affairs of the heart.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Be sure your story is a tale of rags to riches, not riches to rags. This is not a good time to make irrevocable financial changes or decisions. You can't carry everyone else's problems on your shoulders.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — A misunderstanding could put you and a loved one at opposite ends of an issue. If harmony flies out the window, manage the discord by trying to find common ground. Don't compound problems by trying to even the score.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Stay centered within yourself.. Most people enjoy romance but don't let yourself fall for just a few casually flirtatious lines. You may be happiest if trustworthy and loyal business and romantic partners surround you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Your love life is not meant to be a revolving door. Once someone is in your life, you likely tend to keep them. You probably don't need to spend a great deal of money to please a playmate or shower someone with affection.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — There could be a storm brewing in paradise. You may be unaware of hidden conflicts within your home or family until it is too late. Be as nice as possible and don't launch anything of major importance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Press the right buttons to trigger a positive response. Find imaginative ways to prove your devotion and loyalty to a loved one. There is a clever way to handle a financial issue and end up with a profit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Your crystal ball might need a bit of polishing up. You could really regret losing a relationship if you deliberately turn your back on someone now. Use some foresight and understand your differences can be resolved.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Don't mistake togetherness for intimacy. Friendships may fare better than close relationships this weekend. Put those ugly, sensible shoes away and wear the ones that make you feel like running a triathlon or hitting the dance floor.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Flirtations with friends are fun, but they are mostly fantasy. As a schoolkid, you may have given Valentine's cards to all your classmates, but as an adult, you will likely send a romantic message to only one person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Cupid's arrows may be flung in too many directions. Don't take a casual flirtation too seriously or take a loved one for granted. An important idea may take root and offer you an incentive to pursue new goals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Someone may be evasive or vague and compound a misunderstanding. The more you push for a straight answer, the more that someone may try to escape. Investigate a new investment or money-making idea.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Test the waters. Take the time to know someone better before jumping headlong into a closer relationship. You may have a passion to succeed in the material world and a desire to conquer obstacles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — You can be a force to be reckoned with. However, remain polite and considerate to increase your chance of success. Don't make promises or commitments today but do reach out and make some new friends.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — There may be more at stake than meets the eye. It is easy to misread signals and you should not trust your instincts or intuition when dealing with loved ones today. Put a lid on your doubts and remain loyal.

Colts ride historic tie to odd share of AFC South lead

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indianapolis Colts' opening-day losing streak is over. Their winless streak remains intact.

Less than 24 hours after settling for the franchise's first tie in 40 years, the Colts returned home with a share of the division lead — and an odd feeling about a record of 0-0-1.

"It's an emotional roller coaster," receiver Parris Campbell said Monday. "At first, you don't know to feel. It's sort of a sour feeling because you prepare all week for a win and you don't get a win. But it's not all sour because you didn't lose and there are some positives you can take from it."

How unusual is this scenario for the Colts?

Their most recent tie before Sunday came in the strike-shortened 1982 season when the team played in Baltimore and went 0-8-1. The next most recent tie came during their 1970 Super Bowl-winning season. And since the franchise's inception in 1953, the Colts had never opened the season with a tie.

Even quarterback Matt Ryan, a 15-year veteran who has played in a Super Bowl and won the 2016 MVP, wasn't sure what to make of it.

"It's the first time for a tie in the NFL, so it's strange," he said Sunday. "You're disappointed to not come out of here with a win. At the same time, we didn't lose."

The Colts saw some encouraging signs from Sunday's 20-20 result.

With two-time defending division champ Tennessee and Jacksonville both losing Sunday, the Colts sit atop the AFC South after Week 1 for the first time since 2013. And despite playing three quarters of subpar football, they nearly got out of Houston with a win.

WHAT'S WORKING

During the fourth quarter and overtime, the Colts rallied and provided a glimpse of their potential.

Jonathan Taylor gashed the Texans with strong runs. Michael Pittman Jr. made key catches and nifty moves afterward. Ryan showed why he's nicknamed Matty Ice and the Indy defense came up with stop after stop.

It was enough to erase a 17-point deficit and force overtime and it appeared good enough to win before Rodrigo Blankenship shanked a 42-yard field-goal attempt to the right.

Sloppy Bengals will need to get in synch, reduce mistakes

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Clark Harris, Cincinnati's veteran long snapper, might have cost the Bengals the game against the Pittsburgh Steelers just by getting hurt.

Or the blame could go on emergency backup long snapper, tight end Mitchell Wilcox, whose slightly high snaps might have contributed to Evan McPherson missing two potential winning kicks.

Or blame McPherson, who missed so few last season he got the nickname "Money Mac."

Or blame quarterback Joe Burrow, who had the worst game of his pro career. He threw four interceptions and fumbled the ball away on one of his seven sacks.

There was lots of blame to go around on the Bengals sideline after Chris Boswell finally booted a 53-yard field goal in the final seconds of overtime to win the bizarre game for the Steelers.

Burrow, who got a late start in training camp while recovering from an appendectomy and didn't play in any of the preseason games, looked out of sorts. He got sacked by Cam Heyward on the Bengals' first offensive play, then on the next one threw a pick-6 to Steelers safety Minkah Fitzpatrick.

The Bengals, who behind Burrow and McPherson made an improbable run to the Super Bowl last season, still should have won the game. Down 17-6 at halftime, Burrow engineered two second-half touchdown drives to tie the score at 20 as Cincinnati's defense kept its thumb on the Steelers.

With seconds left in regulation, all Cincinnati needed was for McPherson to hit the extra point. He pulled it left. In overtime, he missed a 29-yard field-goal attempt — also wide left.

The misses came after he broke his own franchise record with a 59-yarder in the first quarter behind Harris, his regular long snapper.

"We had our chances," coach Zac Taylor said. "To lose the turnover battle five to nothing, to have kick operations ruined on two kicks that both would have won the game is disheartening in that way, because I thought we would have handled those situations better."

Pirates sweep doubleheader from punchless Reds

CINCINNATI — Kevin Newman hit an RBI single in the seventh inning and four pitchers combined on a one-hitter that led the Pittsburgh Pirates over the Cincinnati Reds 1-0 Tuesday for a day-night doubleheader sweep.

Bryan Reynolds homered for the second straight game and drove in two runs as Pittsburgh hit three home runs for the second game in a row and won the opener 6-1.

Cincinnati has lost five in a row and was held to one hit for the second time during the skid. The Reds got one run and six hits in the doubleheader.

Pittsburgh is (54-88) assured of its fourth straight losing season and the Reds (56-85) of their seventh in nine years but first since 2019. The last-place Pirates have won three in a row for the first time since sweeping Milwaukee from Aug. 2-4.

Rodolfo Castro doubled with one out in the seventh off Raynel Espinal (0-1), who lost in his Reds debut and second big league appearance after an outing with Boston in August 2021. One out later against Ian Gibaut, Newman singled just off the glove of leaping shortstop Matt Reynolds.

The opener drew 9,338, the Reds' fourth-lowest at home this season. Three of Cincinnati's six home crowds under 10,000 have been for games against the Pirates

Cincinnati's Jake Fraley was hit on the head by Manny Bañuelos' 93.5 mph fastball in the eighth inning of the opener. Down for several minutes, Fraley got to his feet and was led off the field by an athletic trainer. He did not play in the second game.

Cal Mitchell hit a two-run shot for his first homer since July 22 and Ke'Bryan Hayes added his first home run since Aug. 7.

Luis Cessa (3-3) gave up five runs and eight hits — including three homers — in his sixth start since being moved from the bullpen. He struck out five and walked one in 5 2/3 innings while slipping to 0-2 as a starter.

Using Kyle Dowdy, promoted as Cincinnati's 29th player for the doubleheader, and Espinal boosted the Reds' players-used count to a major league-leading 65 this season. The team already had set a club record for players used in one season. The Pirates reached 64 in the nightcap with Ortiz and Zack Collins.

Blankenship loses job with Colts after missed FG in Houston

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Rodrigo Blankenship's three-year run with the Indianapolis Colts ended Tuesday when he was waived two days after slicing a 42-yard field goal to the right in overtime and sending two fourth-quarter kickoffs out of bounds.

The Colts wound up settling for a 20-20 tie at Houston — the franchise's first in 40 years.

Blankenship will be replaced by either Chase McLaughlin or Lucas Havrisik on Sunday in Jacksonville The two kickers were signed to the practice squad and will spend this week fighting for the job Blankenship lost.

"I always tell our players and specialists it's OK — everyone is expected to make a mistake," special teams coordinator Bubba Ventrone said Tuesday before the move was announced. "You're going to have ups and downs in a game. It's how fast can you respond and how fast can you self-correct it."

The bespectacled Blankenship won't get that chance — at least with the Colts.

He won the kicking job as an undrafted rookie out of Georgia in 2020, but after scoring 139 points in a strong rookie season, Blankenship struggled.

He hurt his hip before last year's game at Baltimore and the ensuing kicking woes that day proved costly in an overtime loss. Blankenship never returned to the field afterward, missing three of 14 field-goal attempts and an extra point in five games before finishing the season on injured reserve.

Michael Badgley had the job for the rest of 2021, going 18 of 21 on field goals and making all 39 extra points. But Indy didn't re-sign him in the offseason and Badgley instead wound up in Jacksonville. He was eventually cut and re-signed to the practice squad.

Blankenship then fended off a training camp challenge from undrafted rookie Jake Verity, who spent most of last season on Baltimore's practice squad.

"To Rod's credit, as we've brought the heat and brought competition, he's kind of won those battles. That's to his credit," coach Frank Reich said Monday before meeting with general manager Chris Ballard. "Chris and I will sit down and have a long discussion about that and see where we're at."

Blankenship's victory didn't last long and now, for the third time in four seasons, Indy's placekicking job has been in flux.

Longtime kicker Adam Vinatieri struggled mightily in 2019 before finishing a long, illustrious career on injured reserve.

Blankenship temporarily solidified matters in 2020. But his continued struggles, especially after he was handed kickoff duties following the loss of longtime punter, holder and kickoff specialist Rigoberto Sanchez in training camp led to a change. Sanchez tore his Achilles tendon and will miss the rest of the season.

McLaughlin replaced Vinatieri at the end of 2019 and made five of six field goals and all 11 extra points in four games. Havrisik is an undrafted rookie out of Arizona, who tried out with the Colts during May's rookie minicamp.

Indy also promoted cornerback Tony Brown from the practice squad to the active roster and added cornerback Darrell Baker Jr. and safety Henry Black to the practice squad. The Colts released guard Arlington Hambright, safety Will Redmond and cornerback Chris Wilcox from the practice squad.

Stoops: Rodriguez will return for No. 9 Kentucky on Oct. 1

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky coach Mark Stoops said that leading rusher Chris Rodriguez Jr. will return from an unspecified absence on Oct. 1 for the No. 9 Wildcats' Southeastern Conference matchup at No. 20 Mississippi.

Stoops announced Rodriguez's return during Monday's weekly news conference but did not state a reason for the running back's absence that will keep him out for upcoming non-conference games against FCS Youngstown State on Saturday and Mid-American Conference member Northern Illinois.

Rodriguez pleaded guilty in July to driving under the influence, and discipline was expected, but Stoops has said only that the 1,300-yard rusher was "unavailable" but not suspended and did not specify how his status was being determined.

Pressed further on Monday, the 10th-year coach would not comment and added that Rodriguez "will be back at Ole Miss."

Kentucky (2-0, 1-0 SEC) is coming off Saturday night's 26-16 victory at then-No. 11 Florida, achieved despite failing to break 100 net yards rushing for the second consecutive week. At the same time, the Wildcats outgained the Gators 107-32 on the ground after halftime and averaged nearly five yards per carry to earn consecutive wins over the Gators for the first time since 1976-77.

And they'll soon have a first-team, All-SEC selection who rushed for 1,379 yards and nine touchdowns last season.

"We've been prepared to handle the situation for weeks now," Stoops said, adding that Rodriguez has worked with the scout team while taking practice reps with the first and second teams.

"We've been getting the other guys ready, continuing to progress and also keep him in shape. ... We will be more than happy to welcome him back and have him compete when he can."

AP Top 25: UGA reclaims No. 1; Kentucky, Arkansas in Top 10

BY RALPH D. RUSSO
AP COLLEGE FOOTBALL WRITER

Georgia reclaimed the top spot in The Associated Press college football poll on Sunday, and Kentucky, Oklahoma State and Arkansas moved into the top 10 after an upset-filled weekend across the country.

The defending national champion Bulldogs, who started the season at No. 3 in the AP Top 25 presented by Regions Banks, took two weeks to get back to where they spent most of last year.

Georgia jumped Alabama after it cruised to a 33-0 victory against Samford.

But it wasn't so much about what the Bulldogs did this week as much as what they did last week, combined with the Crimson Tide needing a late field goal to escape at Texas on Saturday.

Georgia, which opened the season by beating Oregon 49-3, received 53 of 63 first-place votes from the media panel. No. 2 Alabama received nine first-place votes and No. 3 Ohio State got one first-place vote.

No. 4 Michigan and No. 5 Clemson held their places, but the rest of the top 10 was shuffled.

Oklahoma moved up a spot to No. 6. Southern California jumped three places to No. 7, its best ranking since September 2017.

The rest of the top 10 are new arrivals: No. 8 Oklahoma State moved up three spots. No. 9 Kentucky jumped 11 places for its best ranking since it reached No. 8 in October 2007. And No. 10 Arkansas was up six.

After being upset at home by Sun Belt schools, Texas A&M dropped from No. 6 to No. 24 and Notre Dame tumbled out all the way from No. 8.

The Aggies were beaten by Appalachian State and the Fighting Irish fell to 0-2 after losing to Marshall.

It was the fifth time in the last 10 seasons and first time since 2020 that two top-10 teams lost at home to unranked teams in the same week.

Notre Dame is unranked for the first time since Sept. 17, 2017, snapping a streak of 80 straight poll appearances, which was fourth in the country behind Alabama, Ohio State and Georgia among active runs.

POLL POINTS

No. 1 winning and dropping, as Alabama did, is a common occurrence. Since the AP college football poll started in 1936, it has happened 91 times.

The last time it happened was 2019, when twice during the season the top spot flipped twice while teams remained unbeaten.

IN

- No. 21 Texas was rewarded for its effort against Alabama by moving into the ranking for the first time since Oct. 10.

The Longhorns are believed to be the first team to lose and still enter the AP Top 25 since Missouri did it in 1997. That came after the famous Flea Kicker game against Nebraska.

- No. 22 Penn State appeared in the ranking for the first time since dropping out in the middle of last November during a late-season slide.
- No. 25 Oregon is back after putting up 70 points on Eastern Washington.

OUT

- Wisconsin's 17-14 home loss to Washington State knocked the Badgers out of the ranking for the first time this season.
- Houston dropped out after losing in overtime at Texas Tech, the Cougars' second straight OT game to open the season.

RANKED VS. RANKED

No. 12 BYU at No. 25 Oregon. Second straight ranked Power Five opponent for the Cougars.

No. 13 Miami at No. 24 Texas A&M. Aggies' loss cost College Station a chance to host ESPN's "College GameDay," but it's still a matchup of ranked teams.
